

CJD Jugendorf-Christophorusschule Obersalzberg

The CJD Christophorusschule Obersalzberg is situated in the Berchtesgaden National Park at an elevation of almost 1200m. This unique location has been an important and essential factor for the educational accomplishments that have been achieved here over the last 50 years. One of the aims is to integrate children who require individual support and tutoring into a sound school community. Apart from the students in the “Jugendorf” (youth village) this work also includes many young people from the Berchtesgaden area and even nearby Austria.

The reputation of the Christophorus-schule Obersalzberg is linked in particular with two special education groups, that can – in this constellation – only be found here:

The young athletes of the German Winter Sport Association (participating in various World Series, e.g. skiing, snowboard or bob sleigh, among others) and the children and young people receiving special treatment for their problems caused by asthma. The particular needs of the latter are monitored by the neighboring Asthma Center in the “Jugendorf Buchenhöhe”, which also benefits from the unique location and its extraordinary climatic conditions.
